

The strikers in Pittsburg are having a quiet time, and are assuming an air of ease whether they enjoy it or not.

Colonel John G. Nicolay, who is preparing, with Colonel Hay, a biography of President Lincoln, is the owner of the original draft of Lincoln's Gettysburg speech.

Congress is doing a good deal of work just now, and one needful thing done by the House was to vote to reduce the salaries of the Senate employees to the schedule of those of the House.

Four of the Breckfield bank robbers have surrendered to the authorities. They were completely surrounded in the woods by hundreds of mounted and armed citizens, and finding that their escape was impossible, gave themselves up.

The wine and cigars for the Yorktown celebration committee and the guests of the Nation, cost $6,522.94. Of this amount $3,900 was paid for champagne alone. The principal feature of the celebration was the fleet and wine and cigars.

Under the bill retiring army officers at the age of 64, the general officers will go out in the following years: "W. T. Sherman, 1884; P. H. Sheridan, 1885; W. S. Hancock, 1886; J. M. Schofield, 1887; J. McDowell, October 5, 1882; J. Pope, 1887; O. O. Howard, 1894; A. H. Terry, 1891; E. O. C. Ord, October 19, 1882; C. C. Augur, 1885; G. Crook, 1892."

The Wool Growers' association of Texas has adopted a resolution to support no man for Congress who does not advocate the protection of that interest against importations. In this movement are Democrats as well as Republicans. The National Wool Growers association has endorsed the protection of the wool interest.

The Tariff Commission does not seem to suit the Democrats and some Republicans are displeased with it. There is not enough of the free trade element in it to suit the Democrats, and there are Republicans who find fault because it is not stronger in ability. A majority of them are practical men, and they will doubtless do the subject of a tariff revision justice.

The office of the Receivership of Public Monies, at Aberdeen, Dakota, is going abegging. General Allen, of the Oshkosh Northwestern, was appointed and he refused to accept it. It was then tendered to his partner, and he likewise refused to take it. It was then offered to A. K. Osborne, of Oshkosh, and he also declined. There are not many cities that can boast of men who do not want an easy office.

The proposed prohibitory amendment to the Indiana constitution is a meaningless proposition inasmuch as it will not restrict the liquor traffic. It imposes no penalty for violating the law, and unless a Legislature was elected in sympathy with it it would remain a dead letter. Even if one Legislature should pass a law carrying the amendment into effect, another Legislature could repeal it. The temperance people are somewhat exercised over this state of affairs.

The House of Representatives has passed by a unanimous vote, the bill appropriating $112,000 to pay the United States deputy marshals in the South for services performed in 1878 and 1880 at the Congressional elections. The readers of the Gazette will remember that in 1878 the Democrats said they would never pay these bills, and would block the wheels of government before they would vote to give one cent for such a purpose. Time passed on, the Democrats became more sober-minded, and finally concluded to pay the bills. Of course, the Democrats always back down.

The employees of Jordan, Marsh & Co., of Boston, have a novel way of sending some of their number on a European trip. They have an organization for that purpose and each one subscribes ten dollars, and the ones to take the trip, are selected by lot. This week when the employees had assembled to draw lots for the great prize a member of the firm announced that all the subscriptions would be returned and that the firm would pay all the expenses of the lucky few. When fate had selected the eight winners four others whose long and faithful service deserved a reward were nominated by their employees. The party of twelve will travel together, sailing from Boston on July 8, and embarking for home on August 16.

A series of midsummer-night concerts will be given in the Milwaukee Exposition building, June 19th to July 1st, inclusive, by Theodore Thomas' orchestra, under the supervision of Hon. R. D. Torrey, general manager of the Milwaukee Exposition. This will be the greatest musical event ever experienced in Wisconsin and the attendance from all portions of the commonwealth will doubtless be enormous. The south half of the great building has been fitted up as a concert auditorium, and the north half as a refreshment garden; each concert will be divided into three parts, with twenty minutes' intermission, so as to embrace social as well as musical enjoyment. The railways will sell excursion tickets at half rates. The general admission to each of these splendid concerts will be but 50 cents per sitting; reserved seats may be obtained by addressing P. D. Torrey, Milwaukee, Wis., without extra charge.

A HORRIBLE TRAGEDY.

A Mother Kills Her Four Children and Commits Suicide in Chicago.

Special to the Gazette.

CHICAGO, June 10.—Casper Leybolt, after working in a bakery all night, went home at 5 o'clock this morning, and met his wife at the door, 51 Fennel street, who acted strangely and said to him, "Come in, Casper, and see our four little children dead, who have gone to heaven. I sent them because God wanted them. See how pretty every one of them is. They are nice flowers for the angels." The astonished husband saw his four children, Matilda, aged 12; Anton, 7; Annie, 2; and Agnes, 4 months, laid out as for burial, with white robes trimmed with blue ribbons and bouquets in their hands. All were stone dead except Matilda. The mother had given them strychnine, and took a dose herself, and died at seven o'clock this morning, and Matilda shortly after.

It is supposed the mother was driven crazy by poverty and family troubles. The husband was taken in charge by friends to prevent him from committing suicide.

STRIKERS GOING FISHING.

PITTSBURG, Pa., June 9.—The iron situation was devoid of anything startling or new to-day. Both sides remain firm and preparations are being made for a long siege. From all quarters come reports of iron-workers, who, accepting the situation, are organizing fishing clubs, and propose camping out and taking matters easy for the summer. The mills are still undergoing repairs, and a number of establishments have sent their horses out to the country for pasturage.

The mining situation is also quiet. The strikers will hold a mass meeting at McDonald's next Tuesday. At the close of the exercises all will go into camp near that place and remain, as Secretary Jones says, "until the striking operators are ready to start at the district price."

PITTSBURG, Pa., June 9.—The Apollo Pa., rolling mill it is announced will start up on Monday with non-union men. This firm contrary to the custom of the manufacturers, did not give the usual $25 to the Amalgamated Association to defray the expenses of a picnic. The lockout is causing a boom in the nail market, and full-card rates of $3.40 are asked and maintained.

Society Belles.

BEN HILL.

ATLANTA, Ga., June 9.—An immense crowd of people was at the depot to welcome Senator Hill. Owing to the critical condition of the Senator, the only demonstration was the uncovering of heads as the carriage passed.

IT STIRS.—The dormant energies by aiding digestion and giving the liver new life. ZOFESA (from Brazil) cleanses the system of all impurities. Try a 10 cent sample. Sold by Prentice & Evenson.

FOREST FIRES.

OSHKOSH, June 9.—The reports of the forest fires between Wausau and Eland Junction are greatly exaggerated. The fires do not threaten any serious damage, and there is no excitement.

BRACE UP.—Your system for work ZOFESA, the new Dyspepsia, and as by remedy, attends strictly to business kidneys. Sample bottles, 10 cents; per bottles, 75 cents. Sold by Prentice & Evenson.

THE GALLOWES.

St. Louis, Mo., June 9.—The Post-Dispatch special from Brownsville, Texas, says: "Quirino Gaitan was hanged here this afternoon in an open lot in front of the court house. The scaffold was guarded by forty deputy sheriffs, selected from the best citizens. An immense crowd was present. Most of the spectators were Mexicans. The gallows was near the bank of the Rio Grande, and a thousand Mexicans lined the opposite bank. Some threats of lynching were not carried out. Gaitan died game. He walked to the scaffold, and spoke on the gallows in Spanish. The drop was over five feet. The gallows, a double trap, was sprung by a man concealed in a box at the back, and Gaitan dropped through in view of the crowd. Gaitan was executed for the murder of Luz Contreras, at a fandango, on the 13th of August last. He also seriously wounded a policeman who attempted to arrest him, but the latter recovered."

REED AND GUITAU.

WASHINGTON, June 9.—Charles H. Reed will probably make his final effort to save Guitau early next week. He will try to make one of the judges of the Supreme Court of the United States to issue a writ of habeas corpus returnable to the full bench. If successful, Guitau would be granted a reprieve until October, when the court meets.

A Friend in Need.

Time over and again THOMAS' ELEC-TRIC OIL has proved a salutary friend to the distressed. As a regular curative for croup in children, sore throat and bronchial affections, and as a positive external remedy for pain, it is a never-failing antidote.

A SINGULAR CASE.

WAUKESHA, June 8.—One of the most remarkable cases on record occurred at the Circuit Court here to-day. A young lady was called to testify against a young man in a criminal way, but refused. She furthermore stated that she never was outraged, and almost immediately went into spasms. She was removed to a room in the court house and soon gave birth to a child.

"UNCLE TOM."

CHATHAM, June 9.—Josiah Henson, the hero of Mrs. Stowe's "Uncle Tom's Cabin" is a resident of the county of Bothwell. He was born in Maryland in June 1788, and is now 93 years of age. Mr. Henson is a veteran reformer, and takes an active interest in present elections. He is a man of more than ordinary ability. Forty years of his life were spent in slavery, and for fifty years he has been a freeman. Mr. Henson is a man of ready wit. On one occasion when asked if his master had not treated him well, he said yes, and his interrogator said, "You are a fool for running away." Henson replied, "Well, my friend, that place is still vacant. You can have it." Mr. Henson says the Tories are very friendly to him during elections, but they have always found him to be one of that class not easily humbugged.

Nearly a Miracle.
E. Asenith Hall, Binghamton, N. Y., writes: "I suffered for several months with a dull pain through my left lung and shoulder. I lost my spirits, appetite and color, and could with difficulty keep up all day. My mother procured some BERDOCK BLOOD BITTERS; I took them as directed, and have felt no pain since the first week after using them, and am now quite well." Price $1.00. Sold by A. J. Roberts and Sherer & Co.

OBITUARY.

MILWAUKEE, June 9.—After a prolonged and painful illness Milop Jewett, first president of Vassar College, died here to-day in the 75 year of his age. He was born at St. Johnsbury, Vt., April 27, 1808. He graduated from Dartmouth College in 1828, and for many years successfully followed the vocation of a teacher. In 1839 he opened the Judson Female Institution in Albany, at the head of which he remained until 1855. He then went to Poughkeepsie, N. Y., and suggested to Matthew Vassar the founding of an extensive college for young women. Through the united efforts of these two gentlemen the educator and the capitalist, Vassar College was established in 1861, and Professor Jewett elected President. In planning the curriculum of this institution Professor Jewett endeavored to supply a motive which would induce young women to persist in their work in the face of the fact that, unlike male students, they had unlearned professions for which to prepare. In this he succeeded admirably. After the college had been placed upon a firm basis he resigned and Professor John H. Raymond was then called to Milwaukee. In 1867 the house of Jewett & Sherman was founded. The Merchants' Coffee and Spice Mills have grown to liberal proportions and their business now extends to every State and section of the Union. Mr. Jewett has been President and senior member of the firm since its organization. He has always been one of the foremost friends of education in this city and State, and his high degree of efficiency of our public school system has been to a great extent the result of his work.

Thomas Fitch, Bradford, Pa., writes: "I enclose money for SPRING BLOSSOM, as I said I would if it cured me. My dyspepsia has vanished, with all its symptoms. Many thanks; I shall never be without it in the house. Price 50 cents, trial bottles 10 cents. Sold by A. J. Roberts and Sherer & Co.

In Bijah's Court.

It was a mild-eyed, long-haired young man of twenty-seven, who answered to the name of Donald O'Grimald, and he wanted to know of the court if he couldn't have a glass of lemonade before his trial.

"Guess not," answered his Honor. "Bijah had a lemon around here five or six weeks ago, but ten to one the cock-roaches have lugged it off and traded it for gum drops. It won't hurt you any to be tried."

"I feel all gone."

"Yes, I suppose so. I've never had the sensation myself, but I've seen so much of it here that I can imagine what it is. What ailed you last night?"

"I felt bad."

"And what did you do for it?"

"Took a prescription."

"Just so. It was a thumping big drink of whisky on top of two beers, wasn't it?"

"I—I believe so, but I'm so gone that I can't tell."

"Poor youth! You are assistant to a florist in the suburbs. You came to town about dusk last night with your hat on your ear and a desire in your heart to mash some one. You took a prescription to give you further courage, and you went into a Michigan avenue store and offered to chew the proprietor into shavings for two cents."

"Did I do that?"

"Of course you did. You called yourself the War Eagle of Detroit, and you annoyed the man until he made your heels hit the ceiling and then flung you into the alley."

"And then what?"

"Then you slept the sleep of the drunk, and your snore guided the officers to the spot."

"Well, I'm awful sorry."

"Yes, so am I. It's a pity you are not a statesman instead of a loafer."

"I guess I'll begin from this very morning to be a statesman."

"I guess you won't! You'll begin from this morning to go to the Work House for three months!"

"That finishes me; I might as well die at once."

"Well, do your dying in the corridor, and please don't kick around and smash Bijah's new coal stove. Fall back and die and make room for the next."—Detroit Free Press.
